

By the Numbers

North American Open Access Funds

SPARC (the Scholarly Publishing and Academic Resources Coalition)

is a non-profit alliance of academic and research libraries working to create a more open system of scholarly communication. As SPARC marks five years tracking institutions that are financially assisting authors interested in publishing in open access journals, we are keen to break down these OA Funds by the numbers.

50

